A. General Overview of Land Development

Since the issuance of Regulation of the Minister of Agrarian Affairs and Spatial Planning/Head of the National Land Agency Number 16 of 2020, the nomenclature "Land Development and Land Utilization" has become a new function within the Ministry of Agrarian Affairs and Spatial Planning/National Land Agency and also complements land management in Indonesia. In addition to the legal basis or legal aspects of the Ministerial Regulation, there is also a technocratic basis for the emergence of the function of land development and land utilization to create and capture added value from land administration results, thereby increasing the useful value of the land.

Land Development is a policy of optimizing land benefits by increasing land use and developing areas to be more productive, efficient, and beneficial for the public interest, in accordance with spatial planning in order to realize sustainable development. There are several principles in the Implementation of Land Development, including developing potential areas, increasing the attractiveness and/or added value of the development area, in accordance with spatial planning, in accordance with the local wisdom of the development area, and supported/supporting sector policies.
